

Portfolios That Work

Closing the Gap October 2008

Samuel Sennott samuel.sennott@gmail.com

Mary Ann Lowe, SLP.D., CCC-SLP, lowem@nova.edu
alltogether.wordpress.com

The Open Learning Portfolio Template

-  Download the Open Learning Portfolio Template Packet: <http://alltogether.wordpress.com/2008/10/13/open-learning-portfolio-template/>
-  Read about the system
-  Modify the system to meet your needs. Please add any template contributions to www.onetoonethousand.wikispaces.com

Top Software to Power Your Portfolios

-  Microsoft PowerPoint (Familiar to many teachers)
-  Apple Keynote (Powerful Integration with iLife)
-  Use a Wiki, either www.wikispaces.com , www.pbwiki.com , or www.wetpaint.com
-  Other Web 2.0 Ideas and Examples: <http://electronicportfolios.org/web20portfolios.html>

Portfolio Creation Resources

-  <http://electronicportfolios.org> This is arguably the most comprehensive resource on the subject. Dr. Helen Barrett from the University of Alaska Anchorage has done a phenomenal job on the subject and serves as an exemplar of how to study, create, and share about your topic of interest and expertise.
-  Using iPhotos Tagging Features to Organize Media <http://alltogether.wordpress.com/2008/04/01/keywords-in-iphoto-for-organizing-video/>
-  <http://eportconsortium.org/> The Electronic Portfolio Consortium is an association of individuals from 68 countries and more than 800 higher educational and IT commercial institutions from around the world
-  <http://www.olin.org/ILT/eportfolios.php> Great e-Portfolio Resources from the Ohio Learning Network
-  <http://www.webcitation.org/5XoKpkvfR> Article: ePortfolios: Hot Once Again,4/16/2008